In social science and politics, power is the capacity of an individual to influence the conduct (behaviour) of others. The term "authority" is often used for power that is perceived as legitimate by the social structure. Power can be seen as evil or unjust, this sort of primitive exercise of power is historically endemic to humans, however as social beings the same concept is seen as good and ...

It's summertime, which means, among other things, family vacations, long car trips, and questions. With parents often spending more time around their kids this time of year, they may find themselves fielding even more questions than usual and wondering: Why does my kid question so much? (which also happens to be one of the top searches that leads people to this site).
